

CRITICAL ILLNESS INSURANCE

A look at our critical illness insurance claims

From the time we started selling critical illness insurance until December 31, 2015, we've paid over $348 million on 3,606 claims.

Of all the claims submitted on valid policies, 86% received a critical illness benefit from Manulife. The remaining 14% of claims were denied for one of these reasons:

- The condition being claimed for wasn't a covered condition
- The claim did not meet the criteria for the covered condition as described in the contract
- A claim for cancer or benign brain tumour was submitted before the 90-day waiting period

Which critical illnesses account for the most claims?*

As of December 31, 2015, 67% of the critical illness insurance claims we paid were for cancer. The following chart shows the breakdown of the types of claims we paid. It also reinforces the fact that you should make sure your policy provides proper coverage for cancer, heart attack and stroke.

* Based on coverage count for combined Lifecheque and Critical Needs claims paid as of December 31, 2015.

 Other claims paid include benign brain tumour, Parkinson's and heart valve replacement.

Who's claiming?

A critical illness doesn't discriminate – men and women of all ages and occupations feel its impact.

	Percentage	Average age	Youngest claimant	Oldest claimant
Female	46	49	19 (multiple sclerosis)	77 (cancer)
Male	54	52	6 (cancer)	76 (heart attack)
